4. HONOURS AND AWARDS

Academician of the Academy of Social Sciences.

Fagg Foster Distinguished Speaker, University of Denver, USA, 2008.

President, Association for Evolutionary Economics, 2006.

Honorary Life Member, European Association for Evolutionary Political Economy from 2005.

Thomas P. Johnson, Distinguished Fellow, Rollins College, Florida, USA, 2005.

Global Visiting Scholar, Trinity College, Hartford, Connecticut, USA, 2001.

Ranked in a 2006 poll of 1249 subscribers to the Post-Autistic Economics Review as 82nd in a list of the most important economists of the twentieth century, in terms of who added most to our understanding of economic phenomena.

Listed in Who's Who in Economics (4th edn., Edward Elgar, 2003) as one of the foremost 1,168 living economists in the world – and one of the foremost 64 living economists residing in the UK – based on citation analysis of journal articles published in 1990-2000.

Listed in Who's Who in Economics (3rd edn., Edward Elgar, 1999) as one of the foremost 1,082 living economists in the world – and one of the foremost 167 living economists residing in the UK – based on number of citations in the Social Science Citations Index in 1984-1996.

Listed as one of 'The Top 40 Living Economists on the Net' by the Post-Autistic Economics Network, November 2000 (www.paecon.net). (Method: number of pages returned on Google for name plus "economics").

I appear in Tom Coupé's overall ranking of the top 1000 living economists in the world. (These rankings were derived from data on the EconLit database of about 650 recognised journals and apply to the years 1994-98. Coupé's data show that I am 62nd in the world and 2nd in the UK in terms of citation impact; 23rd in the world and 2nd in the UK in terms of number of journal articles published; and 18th in the world and 1st in the UK in terms of number of journal pages published. Coupé is at the Université Libre de Bruxelles and his research was funded by the European Economic Association.)

Ranked by a panel of 80 Japanese academic economists, on the basis of published books, as one of the 23 currently most important economists of all time, and one of the top 17 living economists in the world. The ranking was organised by the Japanese business journal The Diamond Weekly (circulation approximately 100,000) and the results were published in its issue of 20 December 1997.

Paper with Shuxia Jiang 'La Economía de la Corrupción y la Corrupción de la Economía: Un Perspectiva Institucionalista' (Spanish translation of 'The Economics of Corruption and the Corruption of Economics: An Institutional Perspective', Journal of Economic Issues, 41(4), December 2007) in Revista de Economía Institucional, 10(18), 2008, pp. 55-80, was on the Social Science Research Network's top ten download list for Institutional and Transition Economics in 2008.

Paper with Thorbjørn Knudsen 'Why We Need a Generalized Darwinism: And Why a Generalized Darwinism is Not Enough', Journal of Economic Behavior and Organization, 61(1), September 2006 achieved Essential Science Indicators, Hot Paper Status in January 2008.

'Citation of Excellence, Highest Quality Rating' by Anbar Electronic Intelligence, for article (written with Harry Rothman) on 'The Editors and Authors of Economics Journals: A Case of Institutional Oligopoly?', Economic Journal, 109(2), February 1999.

'Citation of Excellence, Highest Quality Rating' by Anbar Electronic Intelligence, for article on 'Evolutionary and Competence-Based Theories of the Firm', in Journal of Economic Studies, March 1998.

'The Approach of Institutional Economics', Journal of Economic Literature, March 1998, cited as 'Article of the Month', in the French language journal Alternatives Economiques, November 1998.

Clarence E. Ayres Visiting Scholar for 1990, Association for Evolutionary Economics Meeting, Washington DC, USA.

University of Manchester 1974 Dehn Prize in Commerce and Industry for M.A. thesis on The Effects of Joint Production and Fixed Capital in Linear Economic Analysis.

5. TEACHING EXPERIENCE

Areas of Teaching Competence and Experience

Currently first supervisor for six PhD students at the University of Hertfordshire and second supervisor for two PhD students at the University of Lyon II. I was first supervisor for eight successful PhD students at the University of Cambridge and four successful PhD students at the University of Hertfordshire. Nine of these PhD students completed within four years.

At the University of Cambridge I taught courses on the MBA (scenario planning) and on the MPhil in Management Studies (methodology, business economics and evolutionary economics). Undergraduate courses taught at Cambridge included microeconomics, industrial economics and economic policy issues.

I have extensive teaching experience at both postgraduate and undergraduate levels, in microeconomic and macroeconomic theory, microeconomic and macroeconomic policy, scenario planning, industrial economics, labour economics, the history of economic thought, etc..

I was scientist in charge of, and lecturer at, the 1996, 1997 and 1998 Summer Schools for post-masters researchers, organised by the European Association for Evolutionary Political Economy in Spain, Greece and Ireland respectively.

In 2004 I was appointed a graduate tutor at the ESEADE Business School, Buenos Aires.

Teaching Evaluation

My lecturing ability was evaluated and compared with that of several leading international social scientists in the 1996, 1997 and 1998 postgraduate, EC-funded summer schools of the European Association for Evolutionary Political Economy. I delivered four of the ten most highly ranked lectures in the three years.

[Other lecturers in the top ten included Philip Mirowski (University of Notre Dame), Mark Granovetter (Stanford University), Ash Amin (University of Durham), Ronald Dore (London School of Economics) and Giovanni Dosi (University of Rome).]

6. ADMINISTRATIVE AND EXAMINING EXPERIENCE

External Administrative and Examining Roles

Former member of the Oxford and Cambridge Examinations and Assessment Council, Economics and Business Committee.

Acted as a PhD external examiner at the UK universities of Bath, Cambridge, East Anglia, Edinburgh, London (LSE), London (QMW), London (UCL), Stirling, Strathclyde, and York. Acted as a PhD external examiner at the overseas universities of Sydney (Australia); ULB (Belgium); Odense (Denmark); Aix-Marseille, Lille, Lyon II, Rheims (France); European University Institute (Italy); Erasmus, Nijmegen (Netherlands); and Lincoln (New Zealand).

Acted as an undergraduate external examiner at the UK universities of Staffordshire and East London. Acted as a postgraduate external examiner at the University of the West Indies (Graduate Studies in Economics).

Acted as external examiner for a Habilitation à Diriger des Recherches (HDR) at the University of Montpellier I (2008) and at the University of Nanterre (2009).

External Assessor for Professorial Appointments Committees, University of Newcastle (1999); University of East Anglia (2000).

External Advisor for the Masters Programmes at the University of Bremen, Germany (1999).

Member of the International Advisory Board for the MA in Technology Governance, University of Tallin, Estonia.

Treasurer and Trustee of the Foundation for European Economic Development (Registered Charity). Formerly president of the International Confederation of Associations for the Reform of Economics. Formerly Member of the Council (1988-99) and General Secretary (1988-97) of the European Association for Evolutionary Political Economy.

Journal and Book Series Editorships

Editor-in-Chief, Journal of Institutional Economics. Member of the Editorial Board of the Journal of Economic Methodology, the Journal of Evolutionary Economics, the Journal of Institutional Innovation, Development and Transition, Review of Social Economy, and Econômica (Brazil). Associate Editor of the Journal of Economic Behavior and Organization and Economic and Industrial Democracy. Member of Advisory Editorial Board of the International Review of Applied Economics. Member of the International Editorial Board of the Evolutionary and Institutional Economics Review, the Review of International Political Economy, the Russian Journal of Economic Theory, and Cosmos and History: The Journal of Natural and Social Philosophy. Member of the International Advisory Board of the International Political Economy Yearbook. Member of the Editorial Committee of the Revista De Economia Institucional. Member of the Editorial Board for the International Network for Economic Method. A former Editor of the Cambridge Journal of Economics.

Book series editor, 'New Horizons in Institutional and Evolutionary Economics', Edward Elgar Publishing.

Book series editor, 'Critical Studies in Economic Institutions', Edward Elgar Publishing.

At the University of Cambridge, 1992-1998

Was Director of the MPhil in Management Studies and Secretary of the Management Studies Syndicate. Authored successful 1998 application for reinstatement of status of 'ESRC Recognised Course' for the receipt of ESRC Advanced Course Studentships and for Research Training classification

Was a member of the Research Strategy Committee of the Management Studies Group and Chair of the Judge Institute Computer Users' Group.

Occasional internal PhD examiner, Judge Institute of Management Studies and Faculty of Economics, University of Cambridge. Examiner of the Management Economics and Accounting paper, Manufacturing Engineering Tripos.

7. RESEARCH

Current Research

My current research focuses on the theoretical and methodological foundations of institutional and evolutionary economics. How are institutions built up and sustained? What are their economic and other effects? How do they evolve? This research agenda has immediate applications for the understanding of learning, routines, technological change, and economic development.

One focus is on the theory and nature of the firm, and its place in a broader theory of institutions and institutional change.

Another focus is on the evolution of institutions, the application of Darwinian principles to socio-economic evolution, the conditions underlying increasing socio-economic complexity, and the impact of increasing complexity in capitalist development.

With several of my PhD students I am exploring ways in which insights from institutional and evolutionary economics can help our understanding of economic performance. These empirical research projects include the investigation of routinisation and niche-construction in firms, the degree to which firms adapt to change, and the role of institutional complementarities in firm development.

Centre for Research in Institutional Economics

With colleagues at the University of Hertfordshire I founded the Centre for Research in Institutional Economics in 1999. I directed CRIE until 2009, when it was replaced by the Group for Research into Organisational Evolution (GROE). The following evaluations are taken from a 2003 report on CRIE:

- “The Centre for Research in Institutional Economics represents one of few places in the world where serious scholarship is undertaken on institutional economics.” (Prof Daniel Bromley, USA)
- “It is no exaggeration to say that some of the work that is emerging from CRIE defines cutting-edge research.” (Prof Nicolai Foss, Denmark)
- “If I was asked to name three institutions with a recognised reputation in institutional economics I would name Stanford University, Copenhagen Business School and the University of Hertfordshire.” (Prof Neil Kay, UK)
- “In the area of economics, and institutional economics on particular, CRIE has put the University of Hertfordshire on the world map.” (Prof Uskali Mäki, The Netherlands)
- CRIE “is one of the top three centers of research into institutionalist theory, evolutionary economics and applied work in Europe.” (Prof Philip Mirowski, USA)
- “The Centre for Research in Institutional Economics at the University of Hertfordshire is one of the leading institutions for the research on economic institutions and has had a remarkable impact on the international academic community.” (Prof Ugo Pagano, Italy)
- “In spite of its relatively small size, there is no doubt that the Centre for Research in Institutional Economics at the University of Hertfordshire has a considerable impact on ongoing international discussions in institutional economics.” (Prof Jack Vromen, The Netherlands)

- “The Centre for Research in Institutional Economics (CRIE) at the University of Hertfordshire has become the leading centre in Europe for research into institutional economics.” (Prof Ulrich Witt, Germany)

Past Research

Research in the 1970s included applications of Sraffa-type input-output analysis to value theory, macroeconomic policy and monetary theory. These issues are all reflected in publications in the 1974-80 period.

In the 1980s additional research interests were developed in the theory of the firm, the economics of worker participation, the economics of planning, the theory of economic systems, expectations and information in economic theory, the economic consequences of democracy, the economics of institutions, and the long-term causes of economic growth. Again, all these concerns are reflected in publications.

Research in the 1990s moved on to issues surrounding the nature of economic evolution and economic institutions, again leading to a number of major publications. This work prepared the ground for my current research (see above).

8. RESEARCH GRANTS

Obtained £9,500 research grant from the Economic and Social Research Council for the organisation of the European Association for Evolutionary Political Economy conference on ‘European Economic Integration’ in Keswick, UK, in September 1989. Helped to obtain about £19,000 in various grants for the European Association for Evolutionary Political Economy conference on ‘Rethinking Economics’ in Florence, Italy, in November 1990.

Obtained European Community Erasmus Programme grants of 9,000 ecu and 5,000 ecu for the European Association for Evolutionary Political Economy in December 1990 and August 1992, respectively.

Obtained 33,000 ecu grant from the European Commission under the Community Action for Cooperation in Science and Technology with Central and Eastern European Countries programme in August 1993.

Obtained 10,000 ecu grant under the FAST programme of the European Commission in October 1993.

Obtained 80,000 ecu grant under the ACE programme of the European Commission in March 1996.

Obtained 300,000 ecu grant under the TMR (Summer Schools) programme of the European Commission in June 1996.

With colleagues in CRIE I have obtained a number of small research grants since 2000.

Obtained £8,000 sponsorship deal from T-Mobile for 2005 Malthus Lecture.

9. REFEREEING AND CONSULTANCY

Acted as referee for academic journals including: Accounting, Organizations and Society; the American Economic Review; Business and Politics; the Cambridge Journal of Economics;
